

Lauri M. Sanders

Lauri M. Sanders An experienced public relations and corporate/community relations executive, Lauri M. Sanders has applied her distinctive brand of social accountability and engagement to companies and organizations within various industries.

Most recently, she held dual roles within Supervalu® (NYSE:SVU), a national leader in the grocery retail industry. As president of The Supervalu Foundation, the company's non-profit arm, she identified and oversaw support of charitable causes aligned with the company's focus on hunger relief, health and nutrition, and environmental stewardship. Lauri also held the position of Corporate Director of Community Relations. Within this newly-created role, she was responsible for developing and implementing all aspects of the corporation's community relations program from strategic planning through execution.